

Second Statement: New evidence + New advice

Additional testing was done on mobile phone sanitization, and found there were significantly fewer illnesses acquired among people who sanitized their mobile phones compared to those who did not.

Based on this new evidence, public health officials recommend that people sanitize their mobile phones daily.

Highlight new evidence that is different

Those who saw uncertainty were less likely comply with the initial recommendation.
(OR: 0.6, 95% CI: 0.4-0.8)