

Second Statement: New evidence + New advice

Additional testing was done on mobile phone sanitization, and found there were significantly fewer illnesses acquired among people who sanitized their mobile phones compared to those who did not. Based on this new evidence, public health officials recommend that people sanitize their mobile phones daily.

Highlight further study was completed

Second Statement: New evidence + New advice

Additional testing was done on mobile phone sanitization, and found there were significantly fewer illnesses acquired among people who sanitized their mobile phones compared to those who did not.

Based on this new evidence, public health officials recommend that people sanitize their mobile phones daily.

Highlight it was done in a comparable population